It is the primary duty of the Village Administrative Officer to register in the adangal the details of crops raised in the land, trees standing on all government lands (whether under tree tax system or not) cases of unauthorised occupation of Government lands, cases of Fasl Jasthi and Theervai Jasthi, etc. This recording of crops should be done every month by the Village Administrative Officer. The cultivation account in (Village Account) Form No.1 and 1A shall be prepared every month. The Village Administrative Officer should furnish the area under different kinds of crops harvested, outturn, etc. This statement must be collected from the Village Administrative Officers by the Revenue Inspector. As such this is an important item of work.

3. The Revenue Inspector should attend to azmoish in all the Villages in the Firka every month, especially during the cultivation season. By this he would ensure that all the wetlands and atleast 50% of the Dry lands are inspected. The azmoish should generally begin with the irrigation sources in the Villages. He must assess the water position with reference to Village Account No.20(Rainfall statement). He should also find out whether the tanks require repair. The Agricultural Income Tax Officers attend to the collection of tax in these cases.

II. NON PLANTATION CROPS:

Though the agricultural income tax on non-plantation crops has been abolished with effect from 1.4.92, some amounts assessed and due from the assesses upto 31.3.1992 are still pending collection. The details of arrears with defaulters have been given to the Taluk Tahsildars for collection. They should ensure collection of the entire amount by invoking the provisions of R.R. ACT wherever necessary.

III. VILLAGE ACCOUNTS:

The Tahsildar and their sub-ordinates shall assist the Agriculture Income Tax Officers by furnishing the required extracts of Village Accounts and render any other assistance whenever needed.

41. SURVEY ADVANCE ACCOUNTS

With a view to making available, uninterrupted resources for the survey work, the Government have sanctioned temporary advance under "8550-Civil Advance-Revenue Advances". This advance is generally called overdraft account for survey operation and is operated just like a "Personal Deposit Account" except that a bill is presented at the treasury for drawal of funds instead of adjusting by cheque system.

2. This advance account is intended for the maintenance of Land Records and to meet the cost of stones and hired labour charges during the regular survey operations in this State. These advances are maintained under two divisions, viz. (1) for the maintenance work requiring renewal of missing stones-cost of Survey Marks – A. Collectors and (2) for regular Survey Operations – cost of Survey Marks – (B) Survey Officers.

3. Both these accounts are operated as a Revolving Fund Account. While the expenditure in connection with the Survey Work is met by drawal of funds from the advance account, the fund is generated by way of collections from the land holders concerned and remittance of the same to the advance accounts as recoupment.

4. The advance for maintenance works the fund is allotted to the Collectors and the operative part of it is done by the Tahsildars for the maintenance work under 'cost of Survey Marks (A) (Collectors) and Assistant Directors of Survey and Land Records is allotted for the new and resurvey work under 'Cost of Survey Marks (B) Survey Officers'. The Collection work under both the head of accounts are done by the Tahsildars.

5. The Advance sanctioned under 'Cost of Survey Marks (A) Collectors' for each district has been distributed talukwise by the Collector. The Tahsildars are functioning as Drawing Officers. The Survey staff during the course of their regular inspection of maintainable stones in each village locate the missing stones and arrange for their replacements and renewals if the ryots who are responsible for the survey stones do not renew the missing stones within 15 days as provided for under Section 15 of the Survey and Boundaries Act, 1923. The stones required are purchased from Stone Contractors by inviting tenders, and appointed by the Collectors after calling for tenders. The cost of the stone is fixed by the Collector following the procedure laid down in para 12, Chapter I of Appendix II relating to executive rules for maintenance of Survey Stones. The cost of stones supplied is paid from 'Cost of Survey Marks (A) Collectors' Account. The selling price of the stones is fixed at the next higher multiple of five paise above the net cost. The small profit consequent on fixing the selling price at slightly higher than the cost price is intended to cover the transport charges for transfer of stones from one village to another, where it is urgently required and breakage of stones in stock, in transit etc.

6. The renewal charges incurred by the Surveyor are reimbursed by the Tahsildar by drawing the amount from this advance account.

7. The expenditure incurred towards the cost of stones and hired labour charges for planting in their respective places is recoverable from the land-holder concerned in whose land the stone renewal has been done. For this purchase and renewal, the surveyor prepares demand bill and hands it over to the Village Officer for collection and remittance under the head of account '8550-Civil Advance-AB-Revenue Survey Advances-AA-Advances for Survey Maintenance-01-Land Records Maintenance' in order to recoupe the amount spent from this head of account.

8. For the amount spent for the Survey Operations under this category, cost rate per acre is worked out. Considering the cost of stones, Measurement Allowances, etc. as per rules after the survey is completed in the Taluk. The demands prepared with reference to cost rates worked out are sent to the Tahsildars then and there for collection from the land holders concerned, under the head of account – '8550-Civil Advances-AB –Revenue Survey Advance – AA – Advance for Survey Operations – 02 New Survey works under Survey Officers". As regards the Government interested lands, the Government share is arrived at by adopting the rates applicable and adjusted to the advance account by drawing equal amount from the Budget head of account under "B.P.H.L."

9. While working out cost rate, the following formula is adopted:

- a) The total extents of dry lands, waste and poramboke lands (of less than 50 acres in the case of waste and poramboke lands) are arrived at;
- b) An extent of one acre of wet land is taken as equivalent to one and half acres of dry lands;
- c) Poramboke and Waste Lands of over 50 acres are taken as one fourth of their extents.

The total of 'a', 'b' and 'c' will give the conventional dry extent of the village. The expenditure incurred is apportioned for the surveyed area. A surcharge to meet the cost of supervision and other incidental charges is added on to the expenditure incurred from advance account.
